must blame themselves in many instances. If they would use Munyon's Witch-Hazel Soap they would discover to their gratification that their pimples, blackheads, eruptions or other skin disfigurements would disappear; that their skin would glow with a youthful freshness; that they would gain a permanently beautiful complexion; and that, used as a shampoo, the soap would cure dandruff and all scalp disorders, leaving their hair rich, soft and glossy. It is every woman's duty to look her best. PRICE 15c EVERYWHERE.

You can then eat all you like, of what you like, when you like, and your skin will glow with youthful freshness.—MUNYON. Munyon's Doctors give advice by mail free. 185 Arch St., Phila.

CHINESE TRAFFIC IN CHILD SLAVES

Dissolute Natives Buy and Sell Little Girls in Eastern Opium Dens.

New York, Aug. 23.—It seems to be true—outrageously true—that children are bought and sold as slaves in this great city of churches and libraries. The facts in the case of Little Ah Foon, so much wanted by the slave dealers of Chinatown, bear out this charge.

Pages have been printed about this infamy and much sympathy worked up for the alleged mother, Mrs. Hoe. She made Americans believe that she was the real parent of Little Ah Foon, robbed of her child, and that her heart was breaking because of it. This was the tale she told most pitifully in a big hospital to patients, and they repeated her story, which, the best-educated Chinamen say, is false.

This explains why her recent application to the court for possession of Ah Foon was denied. According to the testimony of Chinese who know this, Mrs. Hoe, claiming to be the child's mother, had been employed to sell the child into slavery has been aided by hoodwinked Americans and men who might be in better business than boltering up a scheme to traffic in children. It is a crime to which there is but one side.

All the tricks of crafty, dissolute Chinese, with lawyers to back them, are employed in such cases. The child is sold, and the traffic in pretty young girls for immoral purposes for the benefit of wicked men and vicious women of the most degraded type. Government officials know how successfully the pretense is maintained. They know the manufacture evidence regarding the identity and parentage of their victims. It is this system of fraud that has enabled child stealers to impersonate the dead mothers of children, to rob the very cradles of babies, educate them for immorality, using them as decoys to bring patrons to their dens. In this way, the child is sold, and the traffic in pretty young girls for immoral purposes for the benefit of wicked men and vicious women of the most degraded type.

Little Ah Foon was adopted four years ago by Miss Helen F. Clark, head of the

ATTEMPT TO BURN CHURCH.

Fire at St. Raphael's Chapel Arouses Public Anger.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. San Rafael, Cal., Aug. 23.—The setting of St. Raphael's Chapel has renewed the excitement that began last summer, when a number of buildings were destroyed by incendiary fires, but which had died down because of the fire's long period of inactivity during the last few months. Incendiary measures will be adopted to force out the culprit. For more than a year St. Raphael has been subjected to the outrageous work of this fire. Four months ago there were three incendiary fires within the walls of this chapel. A few days ago there was a fire in the particular object of the incendiary's destruction. All of the incendiary fires have occurred at about 11 o'clock. In every instance oil has been sprinkled on the baseboards of the buildings. Matthew Canavan, who was the first to arrive at the scene of the church fire, says that he detected the odor of coal oil on the church grounds. There was then a slight blaze under the steps leading into the altar room. He procured a bucket of water and succeeded in extinguishing the flames outside, but the floor under the altar had ignited, and it was impossible to get water to the flames except with a hose. When the fire department arrived, the incendiary was used in order that the crucifix might not be damaged, but they were found inadequate. There was fast consuming the altar foundations.

Finally three streams of water were turned on. The church was removed, but not before it had sustained great damage. Eminent tapestries were ruined by smoke. The floor of the sanctuary was covered by water. The stained glass windows in the rear of the altar, which cost hundreds of dollars, will have to be replaced.

MR. KNOX SAILS WEDNESDAY.

Attorney General Goes to Paris on Panama Business.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Washington, Aug. 23.—Attorney General Knox arrived at his office this morning from Pittsburgh somewhat unexpectedly. His presence here is due to the necessity of preparing for his trip to Paris on Panama business. He sails Wednesday on the ocean liner.

Charles W. Russell, an attorney of the department, who has been there for some time, says that his investigation, carried out by Mr. Knox's help, is necessary, although his reports concerning the results of his investigation are not yet complete. The merger cases will begin early in September, Mr. Knox says. The court has appointed Ingersoll, a St. Paul attorney, examiner, and he will go to New York to take the testimony for the greater convenience of the parties concerned.

The members of St. Bridget's Parish will give a euchre and lawn party on the grounds of the church, between 10 and 11 o'clock, Tuesday, August 26. The grounds will be lighted by electricity, and a band will be present. The parish priest, Messrs. O'Brien, Corrigan and Jones, and Mr. Ed Corrigan will be present. The evening's entertainment.

CARNEGIE HONORS WOMAN.

Millionaire Gives Wife of an Old Employee a Cordial Reception.

Bradford, Pa., Aug. 23.—The woman most named about in Bradford just now is Mrs. Elizabeth Horner, wife of James S. Horner, a heater in the 4-inch mill at the Homestead Steel Works.

Mrs. Horner has written to her daughter a glowing account of how she was honored by Andrew Carnegie at her old home, Dunfermline, Scotland.

She wrote that when Mr. Carnegie learned that she was the wife of one of his old employees he introduced her to the Duke of Edinburgh, Lord and Lady Bruce and a number of distinguished guests who were present at the banquet which followed the free baths which had been presented to the town by Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie.

Mr. Carnegie is in the most charming way of Mr. Horner and her husband, and so he told her that she thought she would fall from her chair.

Human Bones Were Found.

During last month's surprising finds of dead men's bones began to be made by the workers engaged in grubbing out the old, gnarled cypress trees which obstructed the ocean view of the hotel. The venerable cypresses have grown from tender young things into the might of freedom, nourished by the loam of a rotting tree, have stretched forth their mighty limbs toward the mountains and the near sea with the strength of a giant, and through the years against the ceaseless weight of the ocean's breath. And yielding to the death in the arms of the American axe, they have torn to the light in a few days the mysterious bones of ancient times.

Proof has been found that the unknown dead of Burton Mound died in the combat, thus bearing out in large part the legend of the 23rd California Battalion, who were used for bloodiness in the time in California, which is still told by the people of the historic mission back of the town.

Thirty separate skeletons were taken from an excavation made about one year ago, and the bones of the men who were the warriors to fight away the foot of the mountain to the light. The skeletons fell to pieces, but the skulls for the most part were preserved.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL. Santa Barbara, Cal., Aug. 23.—Probably no other hotel in the world but the new Potter, in this city, has the peculiar distinction of being set upon a battleground of the ancients, bulged up into a mound by natural forces, and a burial mound of prehistoric Indians, which was once the site of a battle, where the warriors of the mainland and the Channel Islands—particularly of Santa Cruz Island—fought to the death in the dim years of another time.

Interesting Relics Revealed. In one of the most interesting stone arrowheads—an easy indication of how the life inside was struck out centuries ago, and the skull was crushed in, not broken, but bent in from the blow of some heavy instrument. The skull with the arrowhead disintegrated badly when removed from the earth, but a relic perhaps more interesting than any other found, was a shell painted bowl, still containing well-preserved war paint in cakes.

He is still hale and hearty as the day he entered the service, although he is 76 years of age.
